A Peek inside Room 22...

On some days the weather was too cold to play outside... so we brought the winter fun indoors! We "ice skated" using paper plates - when the music stopped, we froze. We also pretended to sled using scooters. We saw lots of cooperation in this activity as we worked in pairs and took turns for who got to ride and who got to pull.

We were able to explore in the snow! We built forts, walls, castles, snow people, and snow cars. Many friends chose to make snow angels. We also took rulers out to measure how much snow was on the ground. The children noticed that it didn't measure the same in each spot- some emerging theories as to why this occurred were "it melted", "it got shoveled", and "the animals ate it".

A note from our Education Manager:

Many of you have seen me in your child's classrooms, I wanted to tell you a little of what my role here is at MPC. I am Cynthia DeJesus, you may hear your child say Ms. DeJesus. I am the Education Manager. Part of what I do is work closely with classroom teachers to ensure that children are provided with learning environments and opportunities to stretch their thinking. My role is to also support you as you are your child's primary teacher! If you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask or just come say hello.
